Carmel Can Be Proud Of These

Twelve years is a long time to spend at any job. These young people have done exceptionally well at theirs, and the community can be proud of them. So can their parents!

Following is a partial list of the honors which will be awarded at Friday's commencement exercises:

Bank of America Award: Stephen Arnon. (CONT. ON P. 9)

Who Owns Alcan Pacific Corporation?

The major stockholders of Alcan Pacific Corporation are Hal Ellis and George Artz, both of Sacramento, according to Les Burdett, who formerly was vice-president of Alcan -- now connected with the corporation only as a "consultant". Burdett moved to Carmel Valley when Alcan began work on Hacienda Carmel Retirement Community.

Ellis, president of the corporation, has been associated with a number of interests primarily in the building industry. Artz is an attorney.

Other officers of the company are listed as Neal Evenson, John Dunlap, D. L. Cheney, James Americh, Mike Sullivan, a licensed real estate broker who, like Burdett, moved to Carmel Valley when the corporation became active in the Hacienda Carmel project.

Alcan Pacific Corporation has received county-wide publicity almost since it took up operations here in 1959, because in order to gain access to the 40 acres on the south side of the River where Hacienda Carmel now stands, it "opened" the end of a cul-de-sac, Via Mallorca, despite bitter opposition from the residents of the street.

Protracted litigation preceded and followed the opening of the former cul-de-sac, and the corporation has also been engaged over a period of time in litigation with Arthur Oppenheimer II, representing San Carlos Ranch, the Hacienda's neighbor, regarding use of an access road over the San Carlos bridge.

Most local residents erroneously identify Alcan Corporation irrevocably with Hacienda Carmel, despite the repeated explanations of Hacienda residents that Alcan has less and less connection with the retirement community and will eventually have none at all. As of this week, the residents of Hacienda Carmel in fact acquired a voting majority -- formerly held by Alcan -- on the Hacienda's board of directors.

The retirement community is a "condominium," so residents actually buy their own residences plus a share in the community facilities. Since two thirds of the living units are now sold, their new owners control the project.

One Man's Opinion

The Outlook asked the opinions of a number of Valley residents regarding Alcan's proposed Del Mesa Carmel development. Of special interest was the reply of Jack Uzell, long-time Valleyite and a past president of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association.

Said Jack, "On the whole, it will be better for the Valley to be developed in large chunks rather than chopped up into parcels of five or ten acres. The golf course subdivision is an outstanding example of the beauty it is possible to save or even add if a couple of hundred acres or more can be planned, and by experts, at one time..."

"But these large developers," he continued, "should give the Valley something in return. The golf course, again, will be a positive addition to scenery and recreation as well..."

"In wanting to develop Del Mesa Carmel, Alcan keeps pointing to the 'greenbelt' they would dedicate to the County, saying that this is a contribution. Those of us who have been up there know that all they are giving away is the land so steep that it would be extremely expensive to build on, and in exchange, they want credit to build an equal number of units on a small mesa where construction would be comparatively inexpensive..."

"If they were to do something positive with the land they want to dedicate, such as constructing riding trails and installing a riding stable, with provisions for its maintenance, they would be contributing more than just words..." Jack concluded.

Editorial Alcan Should Wait, (Installment II)

Plancom To Hear Alcan Proposal Tuesday, 1:40 p.m.

California abounds with horrible examples of what happens when the planners retreat before the bulldozers. More and more, such examples can be noted even on our own relatively isolated Peninsula -- little by little, even in our own Valley.

Inevitably, the would-be developer, large or small, complains bitterly that it is immoral and/or illegal to ask him to wait. Inevitably, he accuses the would-be planners of the community of being "dreamers" -- a word that seems to have become, unfortunately synonymous with "moron" or "knave".

Looking back, we can all see, however, that mankind would be better off if it had listened more frequently to its "dreamers" -- those who consider long-range consequences as well as immediate financial gain.

All of these generalities may sound vague to the uninitiated but do apply (as those who have followed the question will recognize) to the proposal of Alcan Pacific Corporation to subdivide some 300-plus acres on the north side of Carmel Valley Road, roughly overlooking the present Descanso Oaks subdivision. Hearings on the proposal opened last month at the County Planning Commission and, in the face of considerable local opposition, were continued until the Planners' forthcoming meeting -- next Tuesday. Time of the hearing is approximately 1:40 p.m.

No one that we know of has objected to the design of the "Del Mesa Carmel" subdivision proposed by Alcan Pacific Corporation. When the local representatives of the corporation look at us with tragic eyes (as they do) and wail (as they do) that no one has a right to oppose such a beautiful design, we feel that they are deliberately trying to confuse the issue. If we accept the idea that this particular 300-plus acres must be subdivided at once (and this of course is exactly the idea they wish us to accept), then we could not ask for a better-executed design in general.

Responsible local groups and agencies, however, have opposed the immediate approval of the project in its present form on two entirely different grounds:

(1) The density requested, on land which is mostly of a very steep grade, would set a precedent that would violate the clear intent of the Carmel Valley Master Plan. In two previous editorials we have explained this with detail and simple arithmetic. (On April 22, and April 15.) That there are a few otherwise intelligent people who seem unable to accept uncomplicated but uncontrovertible figures should not concern us. We are confident that our County planners understand the figures and the principles behind them very well. We are confident that they will soon evolve a workable formula for population density in relation to land gradient.

Despite the repeated anguished cries of Alcan representatives that such a formula "cannot" be achieved, we know that it has been, in other forward-looking communities.

All of the property owners associations in Carmel Valley of any size or consequence have opposed approval of "Del Mesa Carmel" as currently proposed, primarily on the basis of the density question.

(2) The large parcel which Alcan proposes to develop, by unfortunate coincidence, is earmarked as part of a regional park on the recently completed Area General Plan. It was on this basis that the Area Planning Commission requested delay of the Alcan proposal. The area planners have since received support in this position "in general" from the League of Women Voters of the Monterey Peninsula. We are delighted at the opportunity to hide behind the skirts of this estimable group.

The League has written PlanCom asking that the Alcan proposal be continued "until the various governing bodies have had an opportunity to vote on the proposed Area General Plan." We cheer at this statement!

This is not to say that we have made up our own minds on the desirability of the park district, any more than the League has. The League is "continuing to study" such "proposals for implementation" of the Area Plan. Again, we cheer!

The time to decide about the park will be after more details are evolved and judiciously weighed. To go ahead with a subdivision on the earmarked land now, however, would be to decide AGAINST the park before the idea can be given due consideration.

Cowan School Moving To Grass Valley

That the Cowan School will move from Carmel Valley to a new location near Grass Valley, California, was announced late last week by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cowan following this year's graduation at their school. Parents of their students had been notified some weeks previously.

"We have enjoyed our Carmel Valley campus, but have grown increasingly aware of the need for a greater scope," Cowan said, "and we feel keenly the encroachment of civilization on our present site."

The school's new setting will be a 610 acre ranch in the foothills of the Sierras at Bridgeport, in Nevada County, California. The ranch contains a mile of frontage on Englebright Lake, a reservoir 10 miles in length, on the Yuba River.

As a second project, Cowan said, he and Mrs. Cowan have become proprietors of the Bret Harte Inn in Grass Valley. They plan to operate the hotel with many of the same personnel employed by them at the Cowan School. "The Inn will serve families and friends of our students and campers," Cowan pointed out, adding that ranch facilities would also be available to their hotel guests between school and camp sessions.

Although they will not have an academic program during the coming year, they plan to have boys and girls board at the ranch to attend nearby public schools, augmented at the ranch by supervised study sessions and tutoring where needed.

Already deep in preparations for moving their personal possessions to their new home, the Cowans said last week that Rippling River Ranch will be occupied this summer by the resident company of White Oaks Theatre and will be put up for sale.

CV Lions Club To Receive Charter Saturday Night

The Carmel Valley Lions Club, a new chapter of Lions International, will hold its Charter Night June 13 at the Carmel Valley Inn. According to LeEarl McCaman, president elect, the Lions Club is the largest service club in the world with chapters in every country except Russia. The local chapter will have about 40 members at its inception.

The following men, besides Mr. McCaman, will be installed as officers: First vice-president, William Hall; 2nd vice-president, Santos Corona; 3rd vice-president, Joe Pastore; secretary, Roy E. Meadows; treasurer, Tony Steliga; tail-twister, Scott Sherman; lion tamer, Charles Gansel.

The Board of Directors will consist of Richard Reams, George E. Baker, Col. Carl J. Maiser, and Clyde V. Hitchcock.

Attending the installation dinner will be representatives of other Lions Clubs, including the sponsoring Carmel chapter, and members' wives who will assist in the ceremonies. The main speaker will be a member of Lions International, and Rex White, president of the CV Chamber of Commerce, will also be an honored guest and speaker.

The group will meet once a week at Plaza Linda Restaurant for dinner, so as to make service club participation possible for business and professional men who cannot get to the Kiwanis Club's luncheon meetings. No local goals have yet been established, but the club will take part in the sight conservation project which is the national organization's undertaking.

Mid-Valley Group Postpones Election

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Mid-Carmel Valley Property Owners Association, previously scheduled for tonight, June 10, has been postponed two weeks to satisfy a notification requirement in the by-laws, according to the group's president, Larry Horan.

Horan said that the meeting, now set for Wednesday, June 24, would still allow time for the group to act before the Planning Commission hearings the following day.

Horan suggested that any local resident who wished to see a particular topic placed upon the agenda should telephone him within the next few days, so that a complete agenda may be mailed to every member along with the notification of the annual meeting.

One topic already suggested is that of P.G. & E.'s application to rezone land in Berwick Manor subdivision from C-1 and K-G-B-4 to C-2 in order to allow a proposed service center for Carmel Valley. The company previously attempted to locate a service center on Schulte Road and the application was denied in the face of considerable local opposition.

Valley Meeting For Demo Women

With their theme "Getting the Show on the Road", members of the Carmel Women's Democratic Club and interested friends will hold an outdoor meeting at the home of Mrs. Stanley Schloss on Country Club Drive in Carmel Valley on Wednesday, June 17, at 12:00 noon.

This will be the first of a series on campaign techniques and Democratic Party organization. Consultants will be Major Gerald A. McGrath (Ret.), Robert Tuttle and Senator Fred Farr.

Women Democrats of Carmel Valley are specially invited. Bring your own Brown Bag lunch; coffee and cookies will be served.

Bits 'n Pieces By YE EDITOR

The graduation of Carmel High School's largest senior class, this Friday, will be partially blighted by community shame because eight students -- most of them from respected local families -- were recently arrested and charged with a series of burglaries.

Parents of youngsters who were not involved have expressed indignation to us that the accused boys who are seniors will be allowed to graduate with their class. A talk with Principal Warren Edwards convinced us that nothing in the school code could justify their being held back; they have been accused but not convicted, the wheels of justice grind slowly etc. The fact remains that many parents and young people too are left with a feeling of great discomfort regarding the whole problem.

Faced with discomfiting problems, human beings generally look for someone to blame. The search for scapegoats has been one of the most consistent wild goose chases in the history of man. To lay blame may relieve discomfort, but it does not solve problems.

During the past few weeks we have heard numerous people earnestly blame the current problems of youth on one or more of the following: inadequate juvenile laws, overburdened teachers, "progressive" education, working mothers, mothers with too much leisure who "smother" their children, status-seeking but neglectful fathers, broken homes, drunken parents, "human nature", degrading material in the nation's TV shows, movies, magazines, newspapers and billboards; breakdown in national moral standards and -- last but not least -- an undercurrent of fear regarding possible atomic destruction.

SO WHAT'S THE ANSWER? The search for quick and easy answers is as universally human -- and as futile -- as the search for scapegoats. The person who persists in pointing this out leaves his audience grumbling. The political leader who promises quick and easy answers can all too easily be elected to the highest office in the land (no offense meant!)

Thoughtful readers will realize that none of the conditions named above is solely responsible for a complex social problem such as juvenile delinquency. Most of these conditions are probably related, and symptoms more than causes. Some of these conditions are beyond the power of a single family, community, or even a single nation to change. Should we therefore feel helpless? Heck, no! Let's do what we can in our own sphere.

Warren Edwards, principle of Carmel High School, has these simple but positive suggestions for every concerned parent:

"Regarding their children, parents need to be able to answer three questions at all times," said the affable administrator who is held in such high regard in this community. He listed these three questions as: (1) Where is he? (2) What is he doing? (3) With whom is he doing it?

And for the majority of young people, whom he believes to be disturbed and unhappy over the recent disclosures, the principal had this message:

"Whenever there is a group of 600 or more students -- or people, or anybody -- a certain percentage will get into trouble and do wrong things. I am still very, very proud of our student body. The vast majority know the difference between right and wrong and have moral standards of which we can all be proud."

An Outlook reporter asked students on the Carmel High School campus what they thought about the recent thefts and received some eye-opening answers:

From a girl: "I wasn't at all surprised. They were simply trying to do the most adult things they could think of -- like getting drunk and being brave. It took a great deal of courage to break into houses."

Asked by the reporter whether the boys realized that what they were doing was wrong, she replied, "Oh, they weren't even thinking about that. They were just trying to be grown up."

From a boy, an acknowledged student leader: "There is more and more graft and dishonesty among adults. We read about it every day. Why expect people our age to be any different?"

From a girl: "It is the parents' duty to teach them right from wrong. If parents have not taught them, how could they be expected to know?"

From a boy: "I was glad when they were caught. All the kids at school knew what was going on. It was so exciting that lots more were about to try it and would have if they hadn't been caught."

The reporter asked why, if "all the kids knew", no one told the authorities.

"No one was going to fink," was the scornful reply. "Besides, some of the parents must have known. I know of one parent told that a brother was stealing who refused to believe it and punished the one who told!"

"Unconsciously I think they were asking to be caught," said one young student of human nature. "Inside they knew they were doing wrong."

The tremendous variety of answers should prove a point we made last week: young people differ just as people of any age group differ, and general statements about age-groups, old OR young, are apt to be misleading more than helpful.

We hope that this thought may be some comfort to one young lady who said she thought the behavior of the eight boys was "Absolutely disgusting, that's the only word for it! It reflects on everybody our age!"

Last week we said we would have some positive suggestions but we are happy to hope that responsible elements in the community will begin to fulfill that function soon. The Mayor of Carmel has called a meeting of appropriate leaders old and young for next Monday evening, June 15, to consider the situation. And the group of nine in Carmel Valley, representing its nine most responsible organizations, will soon resume deliberations, we hear. That group, which comes closest to an official representation, perhaps, than any other in Valley history, temporarily bogged down in some legal complications which precluded action -- but we hear hopeful signs that it will soon be once again underway. Although the roots of juvenile behavior lie, certainly, in individual homes, concerted and intelligent community action can just as certainly be to some degree effective also.

Sheriff's Blotter

May 29 -- An MPC student reported that his car broke down on the way to school. He left it on Carmel Valley Road near Laureles Grade, later found that the side windows (Austin-Healy) had been stolen and the top slashed.

May 31 -- A lady residing on El Caminito reported that within the past two weeks she had been harrassed by the following: (1) road sign at her corner torn down; thrown in her yard (2) mailbox filled with rocks, (3) gas cap stolen from car while parked in her yard, (4) wiper-blades pulled away from windsheilds on another occasion (5) beer cans piled on hood of her car while parked at Reuben's

June 1 -- a female resident of Flight Road complained that another WAF (Sheriff's shorthand for White-Adult-Female) struck her on the head at the Stirrup Cup, and that the incident was unprovoked. Witness said this was true-except victim had made a remark about the private life of a third party.

('Nuff said.)

June 5 -- A Carmel resident with a summer home in lower Carmel Valley reported that it had been broken into between 8:30 of the previous night and noon of the 5th. The only thing stolen was liquor. No fingerprints, but footprints were those of cowboy boots size 8 to 9, and sneakers, size 7.

Congregation, vestry and clergy of All Saints' Episcopal Church, Carmel, accompanied by faculty and students of All Saints' Day School, last Sunday formed a caravan along Carmel Valley Road to assemble at the day school's future campus, approximately 3/4 mile east of Wolter's. ABOVE, Rev. David Hill of All Saints' blesses the ground, flanked by Rev. Peter Farmer, headmaster of All Saints' Day School and Rev. Robert Morse, assistant headmaster of York School. At their right, holding placard, are the Misses Jane Dyer and Beverly Elton. Behind them is the Rev. G. E. Ridgeway, Vicar of St. James Church of Monterey. At left are MacBowe of Carmel (the bagpiper), father of one of the students and the Eben Whittlesey family. Other children are All Saints' students, but boys with blazers, at rear right, are from York School. Sarah Farmer wields the parish banners.

Junior High Teacher To Hold Workshop

Mr. J. W. Larson, director of music at Carmel Junior High, will conduct a workshop in classroom music at San Jose State College the week of June 15-19. Designed for in-service teachers, the workshop will help them find ways to improve the use of music in everyday classroom work.

During the past year Mr. Larson has organized a survey course in General Music for seventh grade students in collaboration with Mr. William Purdy who is in charge of choral music at the junior high. The course touched on primitive, Oriental, medieval and modern music, as well as covering a number of individual composers and their influences.

Mr. Larson also conducts the band, the orchestra, the brass choir and other small ensembles and can fill in, if needed on just about any instrument from piccolo to string bass.

What's doing?

I couldn't even guess how long it would take to count from one to 2 quadrillion-600 trillion, because such a figure is so colossal. Yet that's the number of different connections in the Bell System's switching equipment. And they make it possible for any one of the 68 million telephones in the System's network to reach any other phone. But because this switching is done so swiftly, you'll never be aware of all the mechanical decisions it takes to pick a path from your number to the one you're dialing. Yes, 2,600,000,000,000,000 adds up—to speed and dependability whenever you phone.

Did you know that here on the Monterey Peninsula we have 2199 more telephones in service now than we had on January 1 of this year?

Bazaars are the fantastic "supermarkets" of the Middle East. There, amid the crowds and the cries of shopkeepers, you can find everything imaginable—and some things that aren't. But, did you know there's an even wider selection of goods and services right in the Yellow Pages of your own phone book?

Next time, why not check them out before you shop. The Yellow Pages is one bazaar you can go through without leaving the comfort of your easy chair.

Telephone people recently installed the "hottest" communications system anywhere. They put armor plate around phone equipment at the Pacific Missile Range to keep it from burning up during rocket blast-off. Because the phone serves every operation important to countdown, its protection is vital to launchings.

WHAT TO DO TO GET HELP IN AN EMERGENCY

If you don't have a list of emergency numbers handy, dial "O" for Operator. She's trained to handle these situations and she has all the numbers of vital services at her fingertips. Try to give her as much information as you can, including the number you're calling from and the nature and location of the emergency. It's good to know your telephone operator is always there, ready to help.

Nearly 70 Summer Courses At MPC

Nearly 70 courses, day and evening, will be offered in the Monterey Peninsula College summer session, John G. Schaub, MPC summer session director, has announced.

The regular six-week session opens June 22, to run through August 1. However, all electronics courses begin a week earlier—on June 15—and terminate July 24. There is also a nine-week session, June 22 through August 22, which features two courses only: analytic geometry and calculus, and physics—mechanics and wave motion.

Registration will begin Monday, June 15, 1 p.m. in the library lecture hall on campus, to continue through June 19, 1 to 4 p.m. daily.

New students who enroll in English, U. S. History, American government, psychology, sociology or speech classes must take a placement examination Wednesday, June 17, 7 p.m. in Room L-10.

Brochures listing all courses are available in the MPC administration building. For further information on the summer session, prospective students are invited to telephone the summer session office at 375-9821.

Valley Varieties Postponed

The Valley Variety and Vaudeville show tentatively scheduled for a July 4th weekend run at the Tantamount has been temporarily postponed.

This was the decision reached by the Talent Scout committee last week. Speaking for the committee, Francois Martin of the theatre staff said: "We just didn't turn up enough varied talent who could give the time during the busy school-closing and early summer holiday period."

Tom Waters, representing Kiwanis, sponsor of the show, joined the committee in thanking the excellent performers who attended the try outs.

NEWS FROM HACIENDA CARMEL

by Edward G. Petherick

BEAUTY SALON OPENS

For many months, many of our residents have been looking forward to the opening of a Beauty Salon at Hacienda Carmel. On Tuesday, June 9th, Margaret Randolph of Salinas was scheduled to open for business in Game & Gossip Room #14.

From the appointments already booked, it appears that a second operator will soon be needed. The opening of this Salon is a welcome addition to the many services now available for the exclusive use of Hacienda Carmel residents.

BIG SPENDERS

At a recent gathering of members of Hacienda Carmel, a discussion of finances led to the disclosure that the members and management are spending upward of $50,000 per month on wages, purchases of food and equipment, taxes and other incidentals. Taxes alone amount to almost $5000 per month. New automobiles, purchased by members during the past year, amounted to $60,000.

The members of HACIENDA

CARMEL are therefore contributing over ONE HALF MILLION DOLLARS per year to the economy of the Monterey Peninsula, and the amount will surely grow as the final 90 units are occupied.

VOTERS--VOTERS--VOTERS

At the recent primary election, Hacienda Carmel members to the amount of 180, cast their votes. Inasmuch as there are but 300 persons living here at the present time, it represents a turnout of 60%, which is an indication of the keen interest in national and local affairs, and the part these members will play in future elections.

FIRE CALL & FIRST AID

Members of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department were called to Rancho Road at 4:45 p.m. May 31 where fire of unknown origin burned an acre of land.

June 2 at 2:00 p.m. Mrs. Len Hanzell of Paso Cresta was transported in the American Red Cross Ambulance to the Community Hospital under advice of her physician.

Home Ec Honors For Helen Hoisington

Helen Hoisington, 17-year old senior at Carmel High School, recently received the award of a silver thimble from the Daughters of the American Revolution, Commodore Sloat Chapter, for excellence in sewing.

Helen, her mother, Mrs. David Hoisington, and a younger sister, Nancy, were honored at a recent awards tea given by the local D.A.R. chapter.

Following her receipt of the silver thimble (a real one, with a small engraving of Constitution Hall and her initials on it), Helen received a letter from Senator Fred Farr.

"I was really pleased to learn that you were honored..." wrote our state official in part to the accomplished young lady.

In addition to making all her own clothing, Helen has sewn draperies, bedspreads, and so forth for her room in her parents' home.

Well -- that's not all! Helen, now known in her family as "The Crisco Kid" also received a Crisco award this year as outstanding student (in Carmel High School) in Home Economics. AND earlier this month she received a Bank of America award "for achievement and promise of future success and service in society" in the field of home economics.

What does Helen plan to be? A home economics teacher, natch!

Children's Art At The Rancho

BY BARBARA WILLIAMS

It is always a delight to see the unconstricted work of children, where they are using gay colors and charming figures. In the Community Room at Carmel Rancho Shopping Center there has been a display of the work of students in the elementary school grades throughout Carmel Unified School District. The show was sponsored by the Carmel Branch of the American Federation of Arts.

There were paintings with gay splashy stained glass effect, bright watercolors and one section of paper sculptures. One especially unusual piece was constructed from cut cardboard caught with brass paper fasteners, the whole forming the figure of a man playing a guitar. The various shapes made a most pleasing arrangement.

CV Women's Club Installs New Officers

BY M. S. STEPHENSON

At the last meeting of the '63-'64 year of the Carmel Valley Women's Club, took place at the Robles del Rio Lodge, on June 3. It was a luncheon meeting. Members were seated at many small tables, at each place a freshcut beautiful rose, while deep pink camellias were massed on the head table. A lovely arrangement of white and yellow blooms was presented to the oldest woman present. She, by the way, was heard to say, "Age has its compensations, and thank you!"

After the delicious luncheon, Mrs. Irving Ollason, the outgoing President, presided at this final business meeting. Reports for the year were read. The President then introduced those seated at the head table, all past presidents of the Club. There were six of them including Mrs. R. B. Stoney; Mrs. Ralph Erion; Mrs. Robert Angell; Mrs. Boyd Huff; Mrs. Santos Corona, and Mrs. Thomas Verga. Mrs. Ollason then personally thanked each member of the Board of Directors who had served with her, and in addition, thanked all her Committee Chairmen. She also announced the purchase, in the name of the Club, of eight tables for the Community Center. These, more than six feet long, are being prepared by Mr. James A. Smith, Chairman of the Board of the Community Center, and his assistants, and will greatly enhance the usability of the social hall at the Center.

Mrs. Ollason then relinquished the meeting to Mrs. Robert Angell, Installation Officer, who graciously introduced and installed the new Board members, and the new officers for '64-'65.

The new Board includes Mrs.

Waters, President; Mrs. John Power, Vice-President; Mrs. Larry Cummings, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Thomas McKiernan; Mrs. J. S. Wood; Mrs. Karl Kunz; Major Billie Mans; Mrs. Frank Porter. Each was given a carnation corsage and a bound copy of the by-laws by Mrs. Ollason, her last gesture as she retired from a most successful year of office.

Lisa, well known local folk singer, was the star of the afternoon. Attired in a true country singer costume, and accompanying herself on her guitar, she sang many of the old songs, explaining that most of the true Folk Songs were sad, and were filled with unrequited love. However, she interspersed several humorous numbers, including one written and sung to a miner's sweetheart, his mule! The entire program was so good and was so tastefully done that the audience was loathe to let Lisa go, in spite of the lateness of the hour.

Merchants Find Santa's House

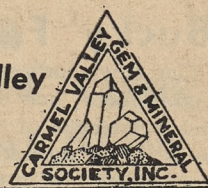

The "Gingerbread House" in which the children of Carmel Valley visited Santa Claus last Christmas, stolen recently from its storage place behind Tom Waters' office, has been located, Waters reports, "but in very beat-up condition."

Waters said the seven pieces of plywood which formed the carefully-decorated miniature abode "were undoubtedly found because of the publicity in the Outlook. Mr. Espinosa at the Wagon Wheel saw some of the pieces in a vacated house on his property. He thought he recognized them from the Outlook story." The Wagon Wheel's proprietor reported his suspicions to the Sheriff, who reported them to Tom, who identified the once-gay but now-be-draggled structure.

Tom said about half the pieces were "salvagable." One large piece had been used to cover several garbage cans. Others were damaged by mud.

"One thing I am grateful for," Waters concluded, "is that the culprits were not local people. They did not visit here very long and have now left for Southern California and certainly had no idea of how much Santa's Gingerbread House meant to the young children of Carmel Valley."

GEM & MINERAL SOCIETY

BY GALE M. HOLLOWAY

BLACK LIGHT THIS FRIDAY

Our next meeting will offer something quite different from previous fare Friday night June 12 at Tularcitos School. Mr. George Wells of Castroville will demonstrate "Fluorescent Material and Black Light" from his extensive collection. Some of you may have seen and admired his exhibit at the Monterey Bay Gem and Mineral Society show in Salinas last April. Jack Gunter will act as program chairman in the absence of Cal (Oregon or Burst!) Keator.

LOCAL FIELD TRIP

Not all of us can go to Oregon to look for mid-night lace obsidian, so a local field trip to Anderson Dam, near Morgan City, will take place on the last weekend of this month. "Peanut" jasper (hydromagnesite) can be found there, and plume agate has also been collected. Saturday, June 27, and Sunday, June 28, have been designated, to meet the needs of both Saturday and Sunday field trippers. The weather will seem hot to us coast dwellers so bring water and wear a head covering for protection from the sun.

Expect to hike half a mile or more from the parking area. Bring heavy hammers and pry bars, because the material is in large upthrust deposits. Rendezvous will be at 8 a.m. both days at the Capri Restaurant, Hiway 101, just north of the Morgan City underpass for convoy to the dam site. Field trippers will leave the dam site before noon to avoid the afternoon heat.

Golf & Country Club Progress

Progressing rapidly is the new Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club Development at the lower end of the Valley. Jack Goggins, assistant to Ed Haber, President of Valley Greens, reports that the golf course fairways have been completely seeded and the first grass on the greens has been mown. (Play will begin in August). Twenty varieties of trees have been planted, totaling 946 in all, some of which are birch, flowering plum, sunburst locust, olive and pine. Local residents have commented favorably on the landscaping.

The Clubhouse building, eventually to cost approximately $600,000 is well on its way to completion. Home construction on the first of 166 units - all to be owner built - will start within the week; 69 of these lots have been sold or reserved, representing an investment of $1,000,000. Paving of the main roads has started and the new entrance road, "Valley Greens Drive", is to be finished soon.

This week the Editor of House & Home Magazine will be visiting the project for the purpose of reporting on it in a feature article on Cluster development. Recently, the American Conservation Association in their newly published book, "Cluster Development," by William H. Whyte, mentions the Carmel Valley Golf & Country Club in a very prominent and favorable light. The project was designed by the well known local firm of Hall and Goodhue.

Carmel's Senior Class President Quizzed On Current Problems

(When we asked Robert Singhaus to interview the president of the graduating class of Carmel High School regarding his views on current problems, we had no idea what the results would be. Singhaus, a Carmel resident, is a free-lance writer with impressive professional newspaper experience behind him and we will vouch for the accuracy of his report. We anticipate that this interview will cause considerable debate -- among teen-agers as well as their elders. Our columns are open to all ages; so are our ears. --BB)

BY ROBERT SINGHAUS

The average teen-age boy is not thinking seriously about world problems. He's concerned with things that affect him more immediately -- things like getting the kind of job he wants and making a place for himself in society.

This is the view of Matt Little, president of the 229-member graduating class of Carmel High School. "Most of us don't talk much about it among ourselves," Matt said, "but the future is worrisome. We wonder if we will be able to do the things we want to do and see the things we want to see. All of us want to be successful. That's the first big challenge.

"Sure, we want to see the world's problems solved. We want the United States and Russia to get along, for instance, but at this point in our lives we just don't worry too much about big problems. Later maybe, but right now these things are a little remote."

Matt is one of the three CHS class presidents invited by Carmel Mayor Herbert Blanks to serve on the newly organized Committee on Juvenile Delinquency. We asked his views on this problem.

"I think the main problem in Carmel -- in fact on the entire Monterey Peninsula -- is a lack of organized entertainment. We have the Youth Center here in Carmel and it's a fine thing; it serves a good purpose, but it's not the popular spot it once was.

"It's directly across the street from a motel. There are no parking facilities, and it's not as large as it should be."

"What about delinquency as a general problem?" we asked. "Do you think it's a result of the kind of society we live in today with its relaxed moral standards and emphasis on the fast buck?"

"I don't think so," Matt said. "I don't believe delinquency is a new problem. There have always been delinquents. Maybe there are more now than there used to be, but our population is growing, and it's natural that delinquency should grow with it. Most young people know the difference between right and wrong, and they don't get in trouble, especially if they have something to keep them busy. Speaking for myself, I have a job and a girl friend, and that keeps me out of trouble."

Matt is employed part time in a Carmel Service station.

"What about the Carmel boys who were recently arrested and charged with burglary?" we asked.

"I know every one of them," Matt said. "They aren't bad kids. I think this goes back to what I said earlier. There isn't enough to do. They were out for fun -- for thrills."

"I think adults could help prevent trouble by setting up more organized entertainment. I've been thinking about this ever since I got my letter from the Mayor asking me to be a member of the Committee on Juvenile Delinquency. There's Sunset School, for instance. It would be an ideal place for a youth center. It has a baseball field, basketball court, a gym and plenty of parking. I'd like to see part of the school remodeled into a dance hall with maybe a soda fountain in it. A place where kids could meet and have fun. I think this would solve a lot of problems."

Matt paused for a moment. "You see," he said, "kids want to do things now. We kind of have the feeling that later might be too late."

Sunset Students To Present Operettas

Tom Sawyer and his Aunt Polly will tell their familiar story in song Thursday evening, June 11, at 7:30 p.m. on the stage of Sunset School. The entire student body of 225 fifth and sixth graders will participate in this final musical performance of the year.

Jim Schaeffler and Jo Alberts will sing the leading roles in the sixth grade's three-act presentation of the Mark Twain classic; other soloists will be Robert Frey as Ben Rogers, Rickey Drobek as Huck, Darien Hopkins as Becky, Valerie Scott as Amy, and Derik Cotchett as Joe.

The fifth grade will present "Who Stole the Tarts?" based on Mother Goose and Storybook Characters. The role of Jack O'Hearts will be sung by John Duhring, Bo-Peep by Peggy Mast, Tommy Tucker by Ted Fenley, King O'Hearts by Doug McCall, Queen O'Hearts by Jerri Masten, Nimble-Toes by Paul Hariri, and King Cole by John Bradley. The scene takes place in the Kings' Garden.

Miss Joe Brazell, musical director of Sunset, is in charge of the production, assisted by Miss Nancy Loyd. The public is invited free of charge.

Regarding the annexation plan: The Association will welcome comment from residents of greater Carmel regarding pros and cons of possible annexation of their areas. Interested persons are invited to attend the meeting and if unable to do so are asked to telephone 624-2930 or write the Association at Box 4444, Carmel expressing their opinions.

Babe Ruth Merchants Win 2 More BY ROY MEADOWS

Pitching his first game since Little League, Robbie Sinclair proved that he can still find the plate as he struck out sixteen Baldwin batters in Babe Ruth action Saturday June 6, to lead the Carmel Merchants to an 8-1 win. He aided his cause by getting three hits. Dave Marvin got a double and homered and Marc Johnson and Cliff Branch both singled.

In a wild display of power the local team also downed Moose Lodge 14-5 in Babe Ruth action on June 7. Dave Marvin struck out ten and gave up 5 hits as the long contest was waged in near tropical weather. Two homers by Dave Marvin and one by Steve Hall were but a part of the action as Robbie Sinclair, Marc Johnson, Randy Newman and Ronnie Parsons got two hits apiece. In all there were six smashing two baggers as the Carmel bats were kept as warm as the weather.

Questions & Answers on Health Problems

DR. JAMES J. SHORT

Another question recently received is: "Is it true that once one takes digitalis it must be continued forever or a heart attack will again result?" Answer: No, it is not necessarily true that once digitalis has been taken it must thereafter be continued indefinitely. Digitalis is a very valuable medicine and can be prescribed with scientific accuracy. Its effects are almost entirely predictable. It is used in congestive heart failure. This type of heart failure may be due to high blood pressure which the heart muscle can no longer maintain. The heart dilates, its muscular power weakens, and eventually there are signs of a failing circulation. These signs consist of shortness of breath, swelling of the ankles, and even possibly fluid in the abdomen and chest. The heart is rapid, the pulse weak, and the blood pressure has fallen. Under these circumstances, the patient is quickly put to bed, his head and shoulders elevated to improve respiration, and digitalis is administered immediately. The effect is to slow the heart rate and thus give the heart needed rest. The power of the individual muscular contraction of the heart is also increased, apparently as a direct effect of the digitalis upon the heart muscle. As the circulation improves, there is a marked output of water through the kidneys, the swellings disappear, the respiration improves, and the patient becomes much more comfortable. After a few days, he may be allowed out of bed in a chair. As his condition improves further, he will be allowed light exercise under the doctor's supervision. Digitalis will be continued over a considerable period in decreasing doses until a so-called maintenance dose is arrived at. This may be continued for an indefinite period, or even for life, but often with supervision and cooperation by the patient digitalis can be eliminated completely. I have seen many patients who have had one or two episodes of failure but who have recovered and gone on for years without the use of digitalis. Most failure episodes are the result of neglect and can be prevented if the patient is properly supervised. Two conditions are especially prone to bring on an acute congestive heart failure: high blood pressure and valvular heart disease. For the latter condition it is often necessary for the patient to continue digitalis indefinitely. However, high blood pressure can be pretty well controlled in these days so that episodes of failure need not recur. The use or disuse of digitalis should be left entirely to the judgment of your physician.

Outlook on Carmel Surfbeats

Meets Tuesday Zoning Board

Sites in Mission Fields, Carmel Meadows, Carmel Highlands and Big Sur will come before the Board of Zoning Adjustment at its regular meeting June 16 in the Supervisors' Chambers at the County Courthouse. Three members of the Planning Commission sit in a morning session as the Board of Zoning Adjustment.

Draver Wilson of Oak Way, Carmel Highlands, seeks a variance to reduce front yard setback requirements because of the excessive slope of his lot. His petition is scheduled for 10:05.

A reduction in lot width requirements and addition to lot depth is sought by Mary Small for a lot on Rio Road in Mission Fields. Her application, which is a renewal, will be heard at 10:20.

At 10:30 the Board will hear the petition of William Webb for a reduction of front yard setback requirements on Spindrift Road in Carmel Highlands. The topography of the site is given as the reason.

Gordon Clemens of Big Sur wishes an off-site sign to mark the campground and recreational facilities which lie beyond the state right-of-way. His hearing is set for 10:40.

The Portola Corporation seeks to renew both the variance and use permit for its Tract Sales Office in Carmel Meadows. These applications will be heard at 11:00 and 11:05.

PLANNING COMMISSION

The full Planning Commission, in its mid-month meeting held during the afternoon, will hear at 1:40 the application of Alcan Pacific Corporation for rezoning from R-1 to ST (special treatment) on a 235-acre parcel of land across the Carmel Valley Road from Via Petra. (See story, page 2).

Set for 2:50 is the hearing of a petition concerning the Coast Ridge Subdivision in Carmel Highlands. The subdivision map as it now stands requires the construction of a footpath from the residential area down to Malpaso Creek. This was a condition imposed by the Planning Commission on the subdividers, who now seek to have it removed and the path deleted.

Susan Baldwin became Mrs. Ronald Chester Johnson last Sunday afternoon at the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace Baldwin of Carmel, a 1963 graduate of Carmel High School, chose Ellen Miller, a former classmate, as her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Shohnii Spicer and Ann (Mrs. Rick) Baldwin; Kathy Baldwin, the bride's younger sister, was junior bridesmaid.

The radiant young bride, a former secretary of the Carmel Youth Center, wore a satin-peau gown with lace appliques at the neck and a full, floor-length skirt.

Ronald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson of Bonner's Ferry, Idaho. He is employed at Western Electric in Monterey. The young couple first met when Ron was serving with the National Guard at Fort Ord. As his best man, the groom chose Rick Baldwin, brother of his bride; ushers were Mike Mosolf of Carmel and Lt. Kenneth Rice.

Dr. Fillmore Grey officiated and a reception for about 125 people was held at the church immediately following the ceremony.

by Mildred Hattan.

Weedend Valley guests of Mrs. Joanne Sears were her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Ambrunn and their son, Pete from Oakland. They were accompanied by Pete's charming fiancée, Miss Esther Levin of Camden, New Jersey.

Mrs. Alba Hess was hostess at a dinner honoring the 25th wedding anniversary of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Anderson of Salinas. Among the many messages of congratulations received was one from the minister who had performed their wedding ceremony in 1939 in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The forty nine kindergarten pupils of Miss Sallie Witter have presented a collection of original paintings to Chip Collins in appreciation of the annual spring visit to the Fire Station. Upon their return to the Kindergarten suite at Tularcitos, Miss Witter instructed the children to draw their impressions of the tour. With their usual enthusiasm they turned out 49 works of art! Assistant hosts to the small fry were firemen Lou Allaire and Larry Cummings.

Anyone fighting the boredom of a nine to five job might consider a page from the book of Graham Matthews who not only prescribes but follows through on a complete change of scene. Mr. Matthews, a teacher at the Santa Catalina School for Girls will leave shortly for South America where he will spend three months climbing mountains. His goal as on five previous trips will be the Los Cordilleras Blanca and Huayhush of Peru. He will join a party of ten, one of whom is currently on a lecture tour dealing with Mt. Everest. His climbing pack will include both motion picture and still cameras on which to record the adventure. His wife, Mary Ann and children will remain in the Valley, where busy summer plans include a course in Russian at the Language School.

Mr. T. C. Luton of Lupin Lane is currently attending the World's Fair. He was joined in New York by his parents who flew from their home in Florida to celebrate his own and his mother's birthdays together for the first time in nine years. The reunion also included his brother and sister-in-law who are stationed in New Jersey at Maguire Air Force Base. His wife and children remained in the Valley where they are enjoying a visit from Trudy's mother, Mrs. Hobart Wensley of Coral Gables, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. William Parham have moved from Paso Hondo to the former Roy Pina residence on El Curenco. The usual trials of moving were complicated further by a month-old litter of seven husky-malmute and laborador puppies described as "black, just darling and in search of happy homes!" Mrs. Parham (Judy) daughter of Mrs. Carol Reams, was recently guest of honor at two stork showers. Mrs. Harry Gillett gave one at Rancho Del Monte, Deanna Holman the other, in Pacific Grove.

Members of the Carmel Valley Horsemen's Association and their guests left from "End of the Lane Stables" Sunday and followed the bridle paths through the Del Monte Forest, later met less energetic members of their families for a picnic luncheon.

Twenty representatives from the Carmel Valley Cooperative Nursery School held a "Bring your own steak cook out" last week at the T. C. Luton home on Lupin Lane. The last meeting of the year will be held June 10 at the home of Mrs. Edwin Austing, 72 Lupin Lane.

Egg tempera, an artist's medium in use since the fourteenth century or before, is experiencing a renaissance in this country today. Andrew Wyeth, the New Englander whose work is so familiar to everyone, is undoubtedly the guiding force behind the revival.

A few days ago I saw the works of Robert Clark, who also works in egg tempera, which is the yolk of egg mixed with water and dry pigment. The paint is extremely thin, transparent and fast drying. Small areas of the canvas must be affected by methodical application of multiple fine strokes, one over the other, until they merge to produce the planned result. A rigid procedure, it does not allow impressionistic effects. Each step is studiously executed to completion and the resultant painting has a clarity and luminosity offered by no other medium (see picture).

Clark, as Wyeth, is of the realistic school. The realistic painter of necessity, must be a very dedicated and disciplined person, if he takes his work seriously. Clark does. Not content merely to form his idea of the everyday world, he augments the form of realism by evoking qualities beyond the surface appearance of subjects, remaining true to the concept of realism but with detail so minute that it becomes enigmatic. Zantman's Galleries now has a good dozen or more of Clark's canvases and they present a varied outlook on his unusual technique, which demands complete control, careful planning and thoughtful execution - all of which he accomplishes admirably.

'EMPTY ROOM' ROBERT CLARK

EVENTS FOR THE ART LOVER

"Painting from Tide Pools" is an exhibition of the work of Maxine Albro (Mrs. Parker Hall of Carmel), to be held at the Carmel Rancho Community Room from June 7 through July 7. Miss Albro works in tempera and oil on Japanese rice paper, a very difficult and unusual medium. The show is open to the public on week-days from 9-4:30, closed for the noon hour; on week-ends from 1-4:30. We'll report on this later.

SPOTLIGHT ON:

The Baker Studio here in the Village Plaza is located in the two-story building on Delfino Place recently constructed under the auspices of Larry Cummings, local politico and real estate man. It's another one of our local gems that is all too easy to miss. Run by the husband-wife team of Eugene and Ann Rugh Baker, this studio/gallery is estimable; a worthy addition to the growing cultural structure of the Valley.

Both the Bakers are graduates of the California College of Arts and Crafts and their work reflects their excellent training. Gene Baker taught art locally for about seven years, including a period at MPC. His work, however, flatly contradicts the old adage that "Those who can, do. Those who can't, teach."

Ann Baker, painting under her maiden name of Rugh, is not in her husband's profession "for the ride." Her paintings are brilliantly alive in color, showing excellent draughtsmanship and so exquisitely wrought as to suggest one of the old Dutch masters.

Again, let me urge you to take advantage of the opportunity such a fine local gallery affords us by stopping by at the Baker Studio, any day from 12:45 to 4:45 p.m. There are other artists' works on display, beside the predominate work of Gene and Ann, and they also deserve your viewing.

Letter to the Editor

Editor:

In my opinion the overriding issue involved in the initiative measure on housing, fostered by many, but not all, members of the California Real Estate Association, is a moral one. From this standpoint it is as simple as the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you", which is found in one form or another in all the great religions. Else how account for the fact that this initiative is strongly opposed by California branches of the Council of Churches, the Catholic Diocese, the Board of Rabbis as well as most prominent church leaders?

This initiative runs counter also to our political beliefs, or at least to our political professions. It runs counter to our Federal Constitution, and to the basic principles on which our nation was founded, - freedom for all, and equal justice under the law. Yet, Americans (the white majority) have a sorry record in their attitude and behavior toward eth-

Alton Hobgoods Leaving Valley

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hobgood (Frances Andrews) have sold their home on La Rancheria to their neighbors, Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Chappell, and are moving to an apartment in Parkmerced, San Francisco, to be near San Francisco State College, where Mr. Hobgood teaches. They have also purchased land in Sonoma County where they plan to build a weekend home.

The couple has also purchased a lot in Hidden Hills, atop Laureles Grade -- one of the last available, Mrs. Hobgood said, adding with a chuckle, "We may never build on it but I did want to own something in Monterey County so that I could have an excuse to come down here and 'holler' once in a while."

For seven years Mrs. Andrews published the "Carmel Valley News", then so well known that some Valley oldtimers still refer to the present Valley paper by that name!

During her tenure as the local journalist, Mrs. Hobgood (then Mrs. Andrews) played an active role in many far-reaching decisions regarding the development of Carmel Valley property. Following her decision to suspend publication of the "News", in 1959, Mrs. Andrews lived quietly here, traveling frequently and far, until her recent remarriage.

nic minorities among our citizens, including the Indians, the Mexican-American, Porto Ricans, and most disgraceful of all, toward the Negroes.

I believe those who support this initiative measure are victims of their own prejudices, preconceptions and misinformation. Also, there is no such thing as absolute property rights. There are a wide variety of limitations on such rights, all adopted in the public interest, most of them initially opposed by property owners as a threat to their individual interests.

Isn't the right to buy, or otherwise acquire the use of real property a part of "property rights", as well as rights connected with the sale or leasing of such property? In any case, our national interest demands that we remove the blot so long existing on our record, which has resulted from our unfair treatment, economically, educationally, socially, and politically, of one-tenth or more of our citizens.

From The Inside - Out

BY AGNES GOOCH

Hurrah! We made it! The platforms and draperies I spoke to you about last week are finished. Of course, it almost finished off our staff, but they came through with flying colors. Also, Rippling River Ranch (until last week, Cowan School), where our Summer Company is staying this year, was cleaned and prepared Saturday by the same group. You might have seen many trucks loaded with all kinds of equipment going between the "old Barn" and R.R.R. We had to move costumes, sets, props, lights, furniture and all the new equipment prepared for the New Theatre, out of the barn in order to start rehearsals June 8 for our June 25 opening. (All of us were applying liniment liberally the day after!)

Our 1964 Summer Company arrived Saturday and Sunday, all at different hours and all by different modes of transportation; some with parents, some with friends, some by bus, others by train, and a few by car. They came from San Francisco, Los Angeles, Sacramento, Michigan, Texas, and Louisiana. They range in age from eighteen years to thirty, and each and every one of them packed full of talent. Can't you tell we're proud of them?

They are all busy getting settled for the summer, acquainted themselves with the Village, and making their first rehearsal calls for "The Boyfriend", which went into rehearsal Monday. If any of you want to peek in on a rehearsal, to see how a show is put together, drop by, any time, and take a look. It's fascinating!

Most people have no idea what goes on before a show "opens" to the public. But, to the Theatre people, that's when the work is done and when the fun is had, the creative part is then - in a rehearsal.

Do come by, they're held from 10:00 to 12:00 a.m. and 2:00 to 5, and 7:00 to 11:00 p.m. before we open our season.

Construction "down on the farm", is starting to go very fast now. We have a new white road in the front of the Theatre, and hope this keeps the dust down; at least we're giving it a try!

The foundations are all poured, and the eight pylons which support the structure are ready to go, and the buildings are starting to take shape.

When will it be finished? Sometime this summer, and when it is we'll move right in and finish the season there. Until then, we'll be at the barn, where we started six years ago, that quaint, old, atmospheric place that is dear to us all.

Saturday Afternoon Movies Continue At Community Center

Saturday afternoon motion pictures at the Carmel Valley Community Center will continue throughout the summer, according to program Chairman Kit Parker, who adds, "We're really proud of our schedule for this summer, and will serve the Valley youngsters with the finest motion picture entertainment available."

A student at Carmel High School, Kit obtains the films, edits them to fit a 2-hour schedule, and also handles the publicity. Unfortunately, the films are now being obtained from a source which prohibits advertising the titles in newspapers. Many of the films, however, have won awards for superior family entertainment and ALL the films scheduled this summer are rated good to superior by Parents' Magazine. Almost all are in color.

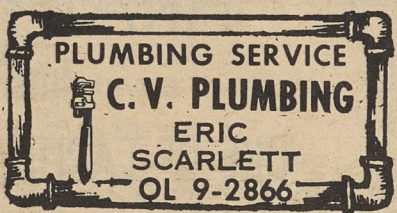

Kit says that, "As usual, a competent staff of teenagers will spend their Saturdays helping the community, and one or more adults will be on duty to take care of any problems that might arise."

Showings are scheduled for 1:00 and 3:00 p.m. and generally run right on time. Admission is "still only 35¢", and all profit is donated to the CV Community pool fund. Recently the group donated $500 to the fund; their weekly profit varies between $25 and $55, Kit explains.

Posters in C.V. Village will continue to advertise the titles of the weekly attractions, Kit says, and the teenagers will continue to sell all kinds of refreshments "including EXCELLENT popcorn at only 5¢ a sack."

Lane Sisters Place In Junior Olympics

Marilyn and Marcia Lane, daughters of Cmdr. and Mrs. Ariel Lane of Via Mallorca, returned last weekend from AAU Regional Junior Olympics at San Mateo College with a fourth place in synchronized swimming. They are qualified to attend the National Junior Olympics in New York with their entry entitled "Irish Duet."

"We hadn't much hope for their duet last fall when they started it," said Mrs. Lane, "because they just didn't look right together. But Marcia grew five inches over the winter and now they make a fine team. The group that took first in the synchronized swimming at the Jr. Olympics is the national champion, so we feel very elated with our fourth!"

Marilyn is a sophomore at Carmel High School, and Marcia attends the Junior High. Both girls have won awards for speed and distance swimming.

The Ordettes, Fort Ord's synchronized swimming team in which Marilyn and Marcia participate, also took a fourth place.

Sheriff's Blotter

(Pretty small for men's shoes, eh?)
...The incident we are about to mention is probably quite unrelated, but one brings the other to mind:

On the afternoon of the 6th, a 13-year old boy was found in a comatose state in a lower Valley artichoke field. He was transported by ambulance to Community Hospital -- seriously ill. This is the second case of this type which we have authenticated recently, although neither case was reported to the Sheriff. The other case was that of a 13-year old girl. The parents feel that she came close to dying.

Why do we print these things? Some parents know full well what goes on, and do not seem concerned -- in fact, resent having the subject discussed. But we are convinced that other parents who would care a great deal are not informed and should be.

To our knowledge, in both cases just mentioned, the parents are respected, hardworking people who care mightily for their children and had absolutely no idea of what was going on.

June 5 -- In Carmel Knolls, a lady resident reported that juveniles were inside the old Hatton mansion. Deputy arrived and heard young male voices; used public address system on his car to order them out. They complied, but chose the rear exit and all escaped. (From shameless eavesdropping in the bleachers of a Babe Ruth game, we discovered that a band of young intrepids, on a dare and a bet of $20, are said to have spent the night in the local landmark. What an adventure! If this was the only type of mischief they got into, we wouldn't worry about them at all!

June 5 -- A resident of River Road reported that a 35mm. slide projector, maroon and grey in color and valued at $89, was stolen from her car while victim was in the Stirrup Cup.

The engagement of Miss Sandra Ann Townsend to Michael Meister Miller was announced on May 17 at a party given by close friends of the couple at the University of California at Santa Barbara, where both are students. The wedding date has been set for August 22, with Carmel as the locale.

Space Derby

CDR. CARL DAVIS
FAMILY LEAVING
CARMEL VALLEY

Cdr. and Mrs. Carl Davis and their four youngsters are, upon Carl's retirement from the Navy, leaving Carmel Valley. Lavinia and the youngsters will spend the summer with her mother in North Carolina while Carl gets settled in a new job and househunts for the family. As soon as they have a permanent address they will notify friends here.

New owners of the Davis home on Carmel Valley Road at the corner of Via Mallorca are Mr. and Mrs. Medin Jasper. He is a retired naval officer. The Jaspers have two married daughters and two younger ones.

DRIVE LIKE A MANIAC the full length of Carmel Valley Road, and no doubt you will save three minutes of your precious time -- even four if you're lucky. If you do this day after day and continue to arrive at your destination intact, you're luckier still!

Cub Scout Pack 76 wound up the year with an exciting new variation of the annual Roller Derby. This year the boys made model rockets and raced them in a Space Derby. The entire Pack gathered last week with parents present to cheer, and launched their "space crafts" from a specially built "launching pad" designed with four lines that stretched the entire length of the Tularcitos Multipurpose Room.

Trophies went to David Englebrecht, first place winner; Vincent Frumkin for second place; and Peter Neilsen, whose rocket came in third.

The meeting ended the year's activities for the Cubs; the next meeting of the Pack will take place on the first Wednesday in October. Boys who plan to join the Cub Scouts should plan to get in contact with Cubmaster Ben Viljoen or one of the adult leaders before then in order to learn the requirements. Adults are urged to contact him also so that den mothers and leaders may be lined up in time. Phone 659-2717.

AWARDS

fore the Space Derby, Shannon Jorgenson was welcomed into the Pack as a new Bobcat. Tom Boyd earned a Lion Badge, only a step away from the highest Cub Scout rank. A bear badge with a gold arrow went to George Eckerd. Wolf badges were awarded to David Englebrecht, Bryan Brunner, Marvin Huss and Mark Myer, and gold arrows went with the badges to Marvin and Mark. Wolf gold arrow was received by Donald Vonarx. Denner stripes were awarded to Bill Viljoen and Dick Whitaker.

A rousing Cub Scout song led by Denmother Mrs. Marvin A. Huss expressed the appreciation of the Cubs for the year's service given them by their Cubmaster Mr. Viljoen. Also receiving the thanks of the Pack are the much-appreciated adult leaders. These include the den mothers Mrs. Huss, Mrs. Robert Ray, Mrs. Frank Bresk, Mrs. Dale Hair, and all the mothers of the Den 5 Cubs who took turns during the year being Denmother; Tom Steiny, who headed the entire Cub Scout organization in the Valley as Committee chairman; Frank Bresk who served as secretary; Mrs. Walter Avis who was treasurer; Mrs. Robert Harris who acted as awards keeper; and Jack Hermanson who helped Mr. Viljoen as assistant Cubmaster.

Thanks also go to Wolter's Hacienda Market as sponsors of the Pack, and "thank you", too, to all the Cubs for being a fine pack of boys!

(Ed. Note: And many thanks to Mrs. Bottaro, whose duties as a cub parent were those of publicity chairman. Her painstakingly written reports kept the community abreast of the cub's activities and achievements and will probably help to interest new cubs and adult leaders for next year's program.)
